Mentoring: Quality Assurance & Consistency

Ofsted Inspection Framework for ITT (September 2015), the quality of training is evaluated in terms of:

- the overall consistency, coherence and quality of all aspects of the training
- high-quality training and support that prepares trainees with the skills they need
- the quality and range of placements
- subject- and phase-specific mentoring
- the accuracy of assessment.

UNIVERSITY of GREENWICH Primary ITE Partnership

Establishing principles...

'Learning and development on placement is dependent upon the social context in which the activity occurs' (Dewhurst and McMurtry 2006:167)

- A shared responsibility and commitment to support student teacher development
- Student teachers being seen as early professionals
- Harnessing the expertise of our partners and valuing their contributions to contribute both strategically and operationally
- Authentic partnership with reciprocity at its heart
- Models of experiences in school which promote a sense of connectedness between the learning experiences within both the university and school
- A community of learners with a clear support structures and planned professional development opportunities

@UoGPrimary

'I just wanted to send a quick message to say thank you for my invitation to the Primary Partnership Awards Evening.

Once again it was a truly splendid event and left me feeling proud to be a teacher and proud to be an ex student. It is an absolute privilege to be invited along to such an authentic and celebratory event that captures the true spirit of the partnership.' (Mentor & Alumna)

'I value the wider partnership that is offered with the opportunity to be involved in selection for the courses and the recent help provided at a local school's careers fayre promoting education as a career.' (Headteacher & Mentor)

'Having a 'Mentor of the Year' competition made my Mentor feel valued and appreciated. Also, having the book corner competition gave the school a positive boost, as the school won a runner up prize and some books for the school. This was very much appreciated by the Head and Mentor. It generated a sense of value for what they do that probably does reflect in the relationship between the Mentor and the Trainee Teacher.' (PGCE student)

"Our Multi-Academy Trust is founded on the principle of partnership – the belief that we are better together for children than we would be alone. We have found that internal partnerships alone do not provide children and staff with everything they need. Together with the UoG, we have created a two-way relationship in which we have been able to work together to provide our existing teachers opportunities to develop through the use of research and teaching led by staff from the university. In return, we are able to provide UoG students opportunities to experience excellent practice within our schools. The benefits are huge for children and staff alike – our existing staff a more highly skilled thinkers and mentors and the students that join us from the UoG are even better prepared for life and standards in our schools. Recruitment has improved through our relationship and, more importantly, experiences for children have improved. We are proud to stand alongside the UoG!" (Director of Education & NLE)

Questions for consideration

- What does 'high quality mentoring' look like within your partnership? Is there a shared understanding of this?
- What good practice is occurring within your partnership to support effective mentoring and mentor development?
- What are the opportunities and challenges in promoting consistency across your partnership?

Mentor Training: Supporting the Professional Development of Student Teachers...

‘Revealing our thought bubble’

(Jarvis & White 2013)

- Professional learning conversations
- Ensuring that ‘hidden’ professional knowledge is made explicit
- Making the links between practice and research / theory
- Articulating personal pedagogical choices
- Creating a climate conducive to deconstructing the learning experiences

Supporting Consistency in Good Practice

Mentor & Class Teacher Toolkit

Aims:

To support the Partnership in:

- Providing a high quality experience for student teachers that supports their personal and professional learning and development
- Drawing upon a range of evidence to inform monitoring of student progress
- Providing students with high quality feedback

University of Greenwich Primary Partnership Feedback on Mentoring: Good Practice		UNIVERSITY of GREENWICH
Evaluations indicate extremely high satisfaction from students regarding the quality of their training and experiences whilst on placement. Analysis of the reasons for this highlight a range of good practice occurring across the partnership. The following feedback seeks to capture some of that good practice (what works well...) and ways of further developing practice (even better if...).

Welcome to the second weekly bulletin! Hope that the week has gone well and that your students are well settled into the module.

Feedback for the first 100 days

As you will be a University staff member for the first 100 days of your school experience, we will be providing you with a number of resources to help you settle into the role. These include:

- A list of the school's policies and procedures
- A list of the school's staff members
- A list of the school's resources
- A list of the school's facilities
- A list of the school's contacts

We hope that these resources will be helpful to you and that you will find them useful in your role.

Good Practice - Feedback from students on Child School & Community Placement

Thank you so much for the feedback support and school based training that you have provided to our PGCE students on their Child School & Community placements. We have been aware of the feedback identified from our students concerning what has been effective about their experiences and school based training whilst on placement.

Feedback by school and awareness of the expectations of the placement:

- "The class teacher had really good at the point. The class teacher gave them sharing information about specific children in the class and how their learning needs were being met."
- "My class teacher had information ready for me about the class in e.g. IAS / SEN / IAT."
- "It was brilliant as the school had created a booklet for us and they always read the school guide on they had arranged meetings to support our learning about school practice."
- "I had been really well organised on the first day we were given a tour of the school and a timetable which told us what classes we were going to be working with and when meetings with staff such as the SENCO & Learning mentor were."

Range of planned school based training opportunities provided to support the students' developing knowledge and understanding of teacher practice:

- "We had the opportunity to see a range of lessons, including to see how they can support pupils and their learning."
- "My teacher has been in height for a good time with me explaining why the Aot approach things the way that she has. This has been really useful."
- "We were given time to look at the school's policies and then had a useful Q&A session with the SENCO and Deputy Head to talk about how their roles are applied in practice. This was really helpful with the assignment."
- "We had a really good meeting about the school's inclusion policy with the inclusion Manager. She shared a lot about how the school supports EAL learners."
- "To have a visit experience / opportunity to observe IAS, work in the inclusion unit, work with targeted children, and work with my members of staff. All of this has really helped me see how schools can be inclusive."

Quality of experience provided:

- "The placement was really good. I was able to see a lot of things that I had not seen before."
- "We had a great opportunity to work with small groups of children."
- "In addition to our timetable we had problems to solve and we had to think about the school and work in it."
- "The school is a great school with a really good staff and we had a really good time with the school and work in it."
- "We had a lot of opportunities to get involved with the school and we had a really good time with the school and work in it."
- "We had a lot of opportunities to get involved with the school and we had a really good time with the school and work in it."

Communication: Priority Areas

Data Bulletin: SE3 Interim Progress
 The University of Greenwich's Primary Partnership: Committed to the development of outstanding primary teachers with excellent practice.

Achievements against the Teachers' Standards: Interim Report Analysis

Interim Grades Against the Teachers' Standards

Particular strengths identified at interim (above 90% good & outstanding combined) in relation to BA SE3 student teaching include:

- TS 3 - Set high expectations which inspires, motivates and challenges pupils
- TS 2 - Promote good progress and outcomes by pupils
- TS 5 - Adapt teaching to respond to the strengths and needs of all pupils
- TS 8 - Fulfill wider professional responsibilities
- Teaching of mathematics

It is encouraging to see feedback from mentors on the interim reports concerning ways in which students are having a positive impact in the progress on the pupils. This is also evident in the positive outcomes for TS3! As you are aware, the impact of teaching on pupil progress is learning is an important measure of competency in the classroom.

Analysis of the OFSTED predicted grade for the cohort is very pleasing - 97% predicted to be graded at least good with 55% predicted outstanding. This is testament to everyone's hard work! - Well done.

Analysis of interim report grades indicates that many students are expected to make AGGRESSIVE interim progress and development.

The IPD day has been tailored to support a student teacher progress and development - guidance for the standards.

Next steps to further secure a student teacher progress and development - guidance for the standards:

- Ensure that within weekly meetings, close attention is paid to the grade descriptor within the Teachers' Standards: Ensure student progress teacher. Review progress and discuss ways to move forward. In particular - how to move from good to outstanding and the strategies associated with this - the highlighting of the grade descriptor and set a goal analysis to support in the identification of areas of strength and areas of priority.
- Remember to ensure the school based training (SBT) time is embedded and PERSONALISE to target the need identified on the interim report. Provide a range of opportunities including personal observations of other teachers across a range of subjects, opportunities to visit other year groups / Key stages, meetings with colleagues.

attending training etc... A range of suggested activities, written by the partnership, are also included in the School Experience booklet.

- Ensure that lesson observation feedback time is ring-fenced and the focus of the feedback concerns supporting the student to reflect on the quality of their teaching. How it impacts on pupil learning progress and how they can further develop so that they have a greater impact.
- Continue to update the Targeted Intervention Plan (TIP) or, where relevant, the Rapid Accelerated Progress Plan (RAP) focussing on progress against targets and next steps.

Key areas to focus on:

- Analysis of interim targets identifies a number of areas concerning TS4. Below are a number of strategies that will support in relation to the target area identified.
  - Planning for progression. Please ensure that SBT time is used to target this, in particular engaging in joint planning activities. Ensure that weekly planning templates are used for both literacy and numeracy as this will help to see the progression in learning over time and consider the activities and taught input required to act as the vehicle to support the progression.
  - Ensure that plans include strategies to support with making effective use of lesson time. Ensure transitions and routines are well established. Again, use SBT to observe experienced colleagues with a focus on effective use of lesson time.
  - Use SBT to focus specifically on identifying a range of approaches to support teaching. Joint planning and team teaching can also support in this area.
- Two common areas arising from the analysis of targets for TS7 concern:
  - Consistency: Have a system in place to follow through with all sanctions / rewards. Ensure that as part of the planning process consideration is given to ways in which behaviour is going to be managed and the strategies that will be used - e.g. praising the behaviour that you want to see more of. Use SBT time to observe and speak with colleagues concerning strategies for establishing a framework for consistently managing behaviour.
  - Structure: As part of the planning process consider the routines for transition, going out books / equipment, getting the attention of the class etc. Ensure that routines are modelled and taught to the children. Use SBT time to observe experienced colleagues with a focus on how routines are effectively managed. Speak with mentor / class teacher to discuss how routines are established.

Recognition: Accreditation

“Mentors have a crucial role to play in supporting teacher trainees during their ITT through to successful teacher accreditation and beyond the early stages of their careers. An effective mentor sets high expectations for pupil achievement, models high-quality teaching, and acts as an ambassador for the profession.” (DfE 2016)

Inspire Partnership

Dear Clare

On behalf of our students I just wanted to express my sincere thanks to you, your team and pupils for the fantastic Professional Development Day that you ran. Our students were full of praise and were totally inspired about working within a special school setting as a result of your input.

I thought you might like to see some of the lovely feedback from our students in relation to your day:

- 'The day was extremely useful and informative. As a result of this I would consider working in a special school in my career.'
- 'This was especially useful in that strategies we learned would be useful not only in special schools but could be transferred to mainstream schools for SEN children. This was especially useful for TSS.'
- 'I loved how inspiring the teachers and staff were at the school. For the first time in a school, I was given what felt like the most genuine, passionate responses to what being a teacher is like. They really valued the individual student and it fuelled my desire to nurture all aspects of the children's development, not just their academic.'
- 'They were so welcoming to us all, making sure that we were comfortable and providing us with snacks, easy access to toilets and allowed us to the staff room for hot drinks. It's the most welcome I've felt at any school so far.'
- 'What a great day. The practical activities shown to us by the Performing Arts and Atlantis teaching teams were really great and insightful. Thanks for the opportunity to visit your school. It was the first time going into a SEN school.'
- 'Riverside School were extremely welcoming and gave me an excellent experience. The day was very well organised and all of the staff were very knowledgeable in their field which provided me with a lot of useful information and experience that I can take forward into my teaching career.'

As you can see, your session has had a real impact on our students – thank you. We hope that you found the day equally as rewarding.

On Thursday 29th June we will be holding our annual Working in Partnerships Awards from 5:30-7:30pm and would like to cordially invite you to this event to thank you for your outstanding support of the primary partnership. Please save the date in your diary. A member of our partnership team will be in touch with you nearer the date to formally invite you.

Many thanks, once again for your on-going support of the primary partnership

Best wishes

Michael
